The Global Leadership Circle

The Ole Miss Women's Council Giving Society for International Studies or Internships

The Ole Miss Women's Council for Philanthropy sponsors innovative programs that attract and develop students through leadership, scholarship and mentorship. Because the classroom is just one dimension of a student's learning experience, the Council recently endorsed The Global Leadership Circle. This international studies/internship component will enable students to expand their horizons, appreciate other countries and cultures, and continue their commitment to making the world a better place.

Become a Member of The Global Leadership Circle

Your gift of $25,000 ($5,000 per year for five years), which may be named in honor or memory of a loved one, covers expenses for scholars pursuing international studies or internships. A gift pledged before December 2018 will designate you as a Founding Member of the Global Leadership Circle and your name will be engraved on the Founders' Plaque.

The Selection Process

OMWC scholars entering their junior or senior year will be eligible provided they have at least a 3.0 GPA, which must be maintained whether studying internationally or interning. The application will be available online or in the office of the OMWC program coordinator. If there are more scholarships available than applicants, the Office of International Studies will award the available scholarships to non-OMWC students.

How to Donate to The Global Leadership Circle

Please complete the pledge agreement to formalize your financial commitment to become a member of The Global Leadership Circle. Your gift is $5,000 per year for 5 consecutive years, and will be distributed to student awardees, as well as help to build a permanent endowment for assuring future growth of this program.

Ole Miss Women's Council

The Ole Miss Women's Council for Philanthropy, an innovative and groundbreaking scholarship and mentorship program, began in February 2000 when an accomplished group of female leaders and philanthropists committed to make a dramatic impact on the lives of University of Mississippi students. Now, the Council provides scholarships to assist selected young women and men with college expenses. Moreover, Council members mentor these scholars from their freshman year through graduation, giving them the opportunity to develop life skills by participating in leadership training, community service projects, cultural enrichment activities and alumni networking.

The Council continually seeks resources to accomplish its goal of identifying and nurturing excellent students who are committed to improving the university while on campus and to transforming society at large after graduation.

Here's how you can invest in the lives of our students — the young women and men who are truly the future of our university, state, nation and world:

Establish a Council Scholarship Endowment

An endowed scholarship educates students in perpetuity. Your gift of $125,000 will establish a general scholarship open to all students while a gift of $225,000 allows you to designate the award for students in a particular field of study or from a specific geographic region. Scholarships may be named in honor or memory of a loved one and your name as the donor will be permanently displayed in our Rose Garden.

Join the Rose Society

An annual gift of $1,000 may be designated for yourself or as a gift to honor a loved one and will directly impact the programmatic needs of Council scholars. Members may become involved in the mentorship-leadership programs, are invited to all OMWC events, including an exclusive signature event, and are recognized publicly in OMWC communications.

Consider a Planned Gift

Council scholarships or program endowments may be established through planned gifts, including simple bequests or the designation of the OMWC as a life insurance or retirement plan beneficiary.
